Rocky River, OH (PRWEB) June 2, 2008 -- AspDotNetStorefront (www.aspdotnetstorefront.com) and Atandra (Gold Certified Intuit developer) announce the integration with QuickBooks. AspDotNetStorefront has partnered with Atandra to provide the QuickBooks Interface technology to seamlessly integrate QuickBooks with the AspDotNetStorefront ML/DNN (ML for DotNetNuke) shopping cart platform. T-HUB allows seamless 2-way sync between AspDotNetStorefront powered shopping cart and QuickBooks. T-HUB works with all editions of QuickBooks financial software and QuickBooks Point of Sale cash register application used by retail stores.

“As the provider of the most advanced and feature rich e-commerce module for the DotNetNuke platform, we continually look for ways to help online merchants maintain leading edge storefronts, maximize customer experience, and also provide safety and security for the merchant,” says AspDotNetStorefront CEO, Robert Anderson. “With the widespread use of QuickBooks within small to medium sized businesses, providing the DotNetNuke target customer with a bridge connecting our shopping cart module with QuickBooks was essential, and Atandra Systems provides the best interface client available, so it was a natural fit to have them develop the integration.”

“T-HUB is the platform of choice for online merchants seeking QuickBooks integrated operations. T-HUB has all the features to help manage their business more efficiently – saving them valuable time, money and resources” says Manish Jha, President of Atandra. “Partnering with a leading shopping cart provider such as AspDotNetStorefront simplifies merchant adoption of an integrated solution.”
